COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 23.

THE most important change in quotations from London yesterday is an advance of ¼ per cent. in Consols, which now stand at 100⅛, a pretty fair indication that not only is the Egyptian difficulty settled, but that, on the Stock Exchange at least, other possible complications are not regarded with any degree of apprehension. Other stock quotations are unaltered, as also prices of Indian Exchange Bank shares.

The General Produce Markets keep very flat all round. Coffee is unaltered. Linseed is flat, with a general decline of 6d. per quarter. In Rapeseed no movement is recorded. Wheat is reported very depressed, and London prices for Calcutta kinds come 6d. to 1s. 6d. lower. Bombay sorts in Liverpool, however, are as previously quoted, although private messages report sales to arrive quite impracticable. Ceylon Cocoanut-oil is 10s. per ton higher, but Cochin is unchanged.

Piece-goods in Manchester are given as depressed, but prices are unaltered, except for Twist, which is quoted ¼d. per lb. lower in 40's Mule.

Yesterday's Liverpool Cotton market closed dull at unchanged values, both on the spot and to arrive, the day's sales being estimated at 8,000 bales, of which 1,000 were Surats. In New York ready Mid-Uplands was unaltered at 12 5-16 cents, but November shipment has lost the previous day's advance of 5 points, being again quoted at 11·38 cents per lb. The receipts at the ports continue very moderate, and, as will be seen from the subjoined figures, are since 1st instant 129,000 bales less than the corresponding period of last and 160,000 less than the previous year. This deficiency necessarily reacts on the total visible supply, which, instead of decreasing as usual by this time, has lost 20,000 bales during the past week, and now stands 473,000 bales under the corresponding date last year. The Liverpool stock, too, has declined 23,000 bales since the previous Friday, and is 154,000 bales behind last season, so that there can be no doubt that in the matter of American Cotton we have yet to see a time of great scarcity. In the absence of any regularly organised "corner," it may be that prices may not run up very high, especially as the coming crops both in America and on this side promise so well, whilst Manchester at the same time promises most unfavourably, but during October ready Americans are bound to maintain their value and with anything of an adverse character regarding the growing crop, the position is such as to afford ample room for a rapid rise.

The American crop figures to date give the following comparisons with the two previous seasons :—

	1882	1881	1880.
Week's receipts.....	77,000	110,000	136,300
,, Exports to U. K.	14,000	43,000	34,000
,, ,, to Continent	9,000	2,000	11,000
Total receipts since 1st Sept....	160,000	289,000	321,400
,, Exports to U.K. ,, ...	60,000	112,700	128,600
,, ,, to Cont. ,, ...	18,000	11,100	31,700
,, Stock at the ports.....	1,3,000	312,000	256,000

The total visible supply of cotton for all Europe on the 22nd inst. affords the following comparisons with the two previous years :—

	1882.	1881.	1880.
Total supply of all kinds.....	1,270,000	1,743,670	1,507,490
Do. do. Surats.....	636,000	409,320	341,940

For the U. K. only the figures are :—

Stock in Liverpool.....	539,000	693,220	531,010
,, London	76,000	14,110	53,950
American Afloat ,, ...	40,000	113,000	100,000
East Indian ,, ...	122,000	56,000	51,000
	777,000	903,630	741,900
Price of Mid.-Uplands	7d.	7⅛d.	7 1-16d.
Do. Fair Dholleras.....	4½d.	4¾d.	4 15-16d.
Difference	2½d.	3d.	2½d.

EXCHANGE.—There has been no actual change in rates to-day, but Calcutta advices coming weak all the banks have come out as buyers of ready paper at the best figure quoted yesterday, and it seems not unlikely that a slight decline, even if only temporary, will be established. In the meantime there is still the same disposition shown to sell short-dated paper forward at 1-32d. drawn for November and 1-16d. for December delivery or later. We quote for ready bills :—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 7 31-32d.	per rupee.
Do. Telegraphic	1s. 7 15 16d.	,,
Do. 3 months' sight	1s. 8 7-32d.	,,
Credits, 3 ,, ,, ...	1s. 8 5-16d.	available
Francs, 3 ,, ,, ...	2·14½	,,

On Calcutta the quotations are ¼ premium for demand, 7-16 discount for 60 days' sight.

THE MONEY PAPER shows great dulness ; buying rates from the market, and discounts are now quote

[illegible] companies are [illegible] Rs. 5 to Rs. 10 higher. [illegible] receded to Rs. 95.

COTTON is steady, but not active. For [illegible] bales Ginned Dharwar G. F. at Rs. 193½ per candy. Arrivals from up-country are extremely limited, and it is evident there will be very little in the shape of active business practicable until the new crop begins to come forward.

WHEAT is unaltered in value, but there is practically no stock here of merchantable quality. Linseed is quieter at Rs. 5-10, as also Rapeseed at Rs. 6-10 per cwt.

FREIGHTS have undergone no change. For Liverpool the speculators are holding pretty firmly, but there are a fair number of disengaged steamers in sight, for which it will be very difficult to find employment.

PIECE-GOODS continue as quiet as ever, but we may look for rather more doing, as the present holiday season comes to a close.

COALS are being inquired after, but no business results, as buyers only offer low rates, and first importers are unable to ship even at existing prices.

"REFORM."—Received.

The Bombay Gazette

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1882.

THE representations of the Government of India have secured the early return of the Indian troops from Egypt. Lord Ripon naturally feels that the occupation of Egypt ought in no way to fall to the charge of India, and therefore he opposed the desire of the Home authorities to utilise the Contingent for garrison purposes. On Friday last orders were received in Bombay to retain the transports arrived from Suez, but on Saturday this order was countermanded, and directions were given to pay off the vessels in harbour. This was immediately done, and a like course will be adopted on the arrival of the transports now en route to India. There are still a number of transports at Ismailia and Suez, and these, with the troopship Serapis, will suffice to bring back the Contingent. Much less tonnage will be required for the return journey, inasmuch as the mules will not be brought back, and in addition to this the space necessary for forage will be saved.

THE petroleum controversy at Calcutta is at last settled. The four cargoes impounded by Government in May last, as dangerous oil, are now pronounced to be up to the standard required by law ; the owners of the oil, after having suffered a heavy charge for interest, a severe loss from wastage, and enormous expenses in trying to free their property from the unwarrantable seizure by Government, have at last their cargoes made over to them. This has only been brought about by the arrival at Calcutta of Mr. Redwood, the Secretary and Chemical Adviser to the London Petroleum Association, who has taught the authorities there the proper use of Abel's testing instrument. How much longer the injustice to importers might have been prolonged had not this action been taken by the Petroleum Association at home, it is impossible to say. As it is, it appears a glaring instance of official ignorance and injustice. Goods to the value of about seven lakhs of rupees have been detained by the authorities in Calcutta for months in spite of the protest of their owners, in spite of most satisfactory proof of bonâ fides in shipment, and in spite of the advice of the Secretary of State, who promptly recommended a measure of relief. The Government, however, influenced by the representations of competing firms with cargoes of their own, which would naturally sell better if free from the competition of the four impounded cargoes, and supported to a certain extent by the strange action in the matter taken by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, refused to act on the advice of the Secretary of State. Trusting to the experiments of the Chemical Analyser to the Bengal Government, they threw, temporarily at least, upon the importers of the cargoes the expense necessitated by experiments which ought to have been made before the Petroleum Act was passed. We are well aware that the good faith of the parties shipping and importing the oil was called in question by their competitors, and that the correspondent at Calcutta of a leading and influential paper at home did not hesitate to telegraph to London these scandalous reports ; but these insinuations ought not to have stood a moment with Government against the known character of the importing houses here and the character of the parties at home, which were testified to by the Secretary of State. The whole thing is a scandal in which the Indian Government, the Bengal Government, the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, the Chemical Analyser to the Bengal Government, the Chemical Professor at Calcutta, and one or two German firms do not appear in a creditable position. The Secretary of State and the importing firms alone come out of the matter with credit. It is satisfactory that in Bombay we have had no such fiasco in the matter of the Petroleum Act.

We have said that the expense has been thrown temporarily upon the importing houses, because we cannot suppose that they will be content to bear the heavy loss caused by the laches or ignorance of Government officers. The law permits the importation of oil of a quality up to a certain test ; the oil in these four cargoes is now proved to come up to that test. But before the necessary intelligence could be brought from London to Calcutta to prove this, the owners of the oil were refused permission to land the oil—this being in the first place contrary to the Act ;—they were then allowed to land it only under severe and costly restrictions ; they were subsequently ordered to re-ship it ; a further protest and delay ensued, and then they were allowed to try to improve the quality by aeration ; and so the matter dragged on, by orders and counter orders, protests and counter protests, until months had passed, and then the oil was proved to have been of a quality to meet the requirements of the Act. Meantime a very heavy sum, reported to amount to over two lakhs of rupees, has been spent in one way and another, the market for the oil has been lost, and all owing to the incompetence of the officials and the support given by Government to the representations of competing firms. There can be no manner of doubt that the loss ought to be borne by Government, and if declined by them it would not appear doubtful that the claim could be made good at law. From the first, apart from the legal responsibility the Indian Government were incurring, it is incomprehensible how they could have doubted as to the course to take when the Secretary of State first suggested a means of relief to the merchants who—it is now proved—were unjustly treated. It must be borne in mind that the Petroleum Act, which required the test of the quality of the oil by Abel's instrument, was passed merely in imitation of the English Act, and before a single experiment had been made as to Abel's test here in India ; indeed, we believe that not a single testing machine of that kind had been brought into the country. As is too often the case with our Government, any legislation suitable

JAIL INDUSTRIES AND PRIVATE ENTERPRISE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, Sept. 24.

In pursuance of the policy of encouraging local industries, the Viceroy lately had under consideration the principles which ought to regulate the action of Government in matters of jail manufactures and industries. His Excellency considered that although jail labour may be made productive, it should be carefully directed in such channels as to interfere as little as possible with the growth of private industries. Detailed orders for giving effect to this scheme, including prohibition of the use of steam machinery, restriction of European hand machinery, and discouragement of multifarious employments, are published in the Gazette of India. The printing and lithographing hitherto done in jails will, as far as possible, be made over to private presses.

WE have received the scores made at the Central Presidency Rifle Meeting at Poona on Saturday, but have not room for the whole. We may mention, however, that in the Squad Trial Stakes for Europeans (prize presented by H. A TELEGRAM from Simla, 21st September, to the Allahabad paper states that the Railway Conference concluded its business on Tuesday afternoon. "The Viceroy entertains the remaining members at dinner this evening ; and to-morrow few, if any, will remain in Simla. A satisfactory code of rules has been agreed to in reference to the most important matter in hand—the transfer of rolling-stock. Among minor arrangements a system has been agreed upon providing for the through booking of parcels at cheap rates from any one part of India to any other. The minimum charge will be one rupee, which will carry five seers a hundred miles, an additional charge of one anna being made for every additional hundred miles."

THE first prize of the Bangalore lottery, Rs. 5,000, drawn the other day, was won by the Agra Confederacy, Calcutta.

INDIA is not the only new field in which the Salvation Army seeks to find recruits. Australia and New Zealand are, among other places, to have the benefit of their presence.

A CORRESPONDENT writes to us that "a Syndicate is likely to take up the matter of introducing the telephone into Poona and forming telephonic exchange between the City and Camp and the several marts. It is proposed also to have the electric light in Poona, both in the City and Cantonment. The delay is occasioned by differences of opinion as to the best system of lighting, but this difficulty will soon be overcome. Poona will thus be far in advance of every other city in India, possessing as it will the telephone, electric light, ice manufactory, and a conservancy system that is self-paying."

REPORTS from Kulu, September 12, state that the first fall of snow had taken place on the higher peaks of the Himalayas. The impression in Kulu and Kangra seems to be that the winter will be early and severe. It is reported also that bears are unusually numerous this season.

AN occasional correspondent writes to the Pioneer from Ismailia :—

Many of the officers of the Indian Contingent complain of their surprise at having refused from Suez to Cairo along the old Overland route as they expected to have done ; but though the Indian regiments can do with less food than the Europeans, and consequently with less transport, still the difficulties experienced in the first two or three days march from here, through the desert, with the loss of horses and mules from sheer hard work, show that the General was right in not risking great disaster to a portion of his forces, by sending them that route, with little means of communication between them and himself. The number of swollen legs and bandaged joints to be seen among the horses of the cavalry, artillery, and commissariat at Ismailia, attest to the severity of the work they have had to do. The British Cavalry had a great many casualties among their horses, the first week they were here, from wounds and hard work with short rations, the Household Brigade in the two actions at Mahsameh and Kassassin losing eighty ; while the 7th Dragoon Guards are short now by 270 horses from all causes. The English horses otherwise are in capital condition ; the black chargers of the Household Cavalry, however, seem to stand their work better than those of other regiments, presumably from being better bred.

Native Opinion would not object to see Indian soldiers taking part in the general defence of the Empire, provided the cost of such assistance is paid out of the Imperial Exchequer. It may be conceded that the Native Army forms an integral factor of the Imperial forces, and as such may be called upon at any time to share in the toils and turmoils of military campaigns. "When the war in South Africa was undertaken and the Malta expedition was sent, we urged the advisability of considering the question whether it was not feasible, like the British troops in India, to locate portions of the Native Army in several parts of the Empire, in view of an assimilation of them with British troops. It is now admitted on all hands that in any future European war, in which the United Kingdom may be a party, native troops will have to be largely employed, and in order that they may stand with greater cordiality and self-possession, assimilation would be very desirable."

THE Indian Spectator moralising on the backwardness of the vernacular press and its poverty of news and ideas, asks :—"What would become of society if our English dailies were to be withdrawn ? We do not think the native community would suffer less than the European if any such calamity were to overtake the public. And yet, these splendid establishments, with their staff of well-paid editors, sub-editors, special contributors and correspondents, their costly telegraphic and other arrangements, are maintained mostly by the European community ! What does the native community do for the native papers ? With such poor appreciation on the part of the public, it would be really unfair to accuse vernacular papers of want of enterprise."

THE Indian Spectator :—We do wish the Hindu Mahajans forbade the use of costly ornaments by little children. What execrable taste it is to allow children of both sexes up to five or six years of age to go about the streets in puris naturalibus, with a gold or silver trinket in broad relief, making the nudity of the brown wearer more conspicuous !

MR. JOHN FOWLER, the distinguished engineer, in his opening address in Section G. (Mechanical Science) of the British Association, spoke at some length upon the canals and waterways of Egypt, and one of his remarks was to the following effect :—

It is hardly possible to refer to Egypt without saying a few words about the Suez Canal. Far-seeing people, including the late Khedive, have long been of opinion that another ship canal will be required in Egypt. In 1876 I submitted to His Highness, in accordance with my instructions, detailed plans and estimates for such a canal from Alexandria through Cairo to Suez, The total length of the canal was 240 miles, and with the same width as the existing Suez Canal, the estimated quantity of excavation was 160 million cubic yards.

SAYS Truth :—The officers and men of the European troops proceeding from India to Egypt are not to draw Indian, but European rates of pay, which means a considerable reduction in their income. This, at first sight, may perhaps appear parsimonious on the part of the Government ; but if these officers and men were permitted to draw Indian allowances, those of their compeers who have proceeded from England would claim, and justly, that a like concession should be made in their favour.

A ST. PETERSBURG telegram, dated August 31, states :—A daring but unsuccessful attempt was made the other day to rescue from the prison of Saratoff a political prisoner who is immured there, pending his trial. During the time allotted for daily exercise in the prison yard a cart containing two men drove up to the outside wall, and while the prisoner threw sand in the eyes of the warder one of the new comers shot the unfortunate man dead with a revolver. All three then jumped into the cart and set off at a furious pace. They were pursued by an infuriated crowd attracted by the shots, which came up with the Nihilists, and so grievously maltreated them before the police arrived to rescue them that one died on the way to the hospital. The man who fired the shots and the fugitive are in safe custody. The former gives his name as Polivanoff, and says he is the son of a landed proprietor. The name of the second has not been divulged.

A CORRESPONDENT at Rome gives some particulars about the health of the Pope. "The regularly recurring weakness of the Pope every hot season has been rather more marked than usual this year. The Cardinal Secretary of State was induced to represent to him that in taking up a short residence at Castle Gandolfo, in order to breathe a cooler air, the imprisonment theory need not be infringed upon, as the seclusion there might be as absolute as at the Vatican. The Pope, having listened to this proposal, suddenly asked Cardinal Jacobini if, as his counsellor, that was his opinion, and if he would assume his part of the responsibility ; to which the Cardinal would not immediately reply. Whereupon his Holiness rejoined :—'Ah ! your Eminence sees that from words to deeds it is a big step. Let us speak no more of it.' The Pope received recently from London a gift of one hundred thousand francs, the sender of which implored the Apostolic benediction. Several offerings of large sums have lately been made in this way from England and from America, and they have gone far to supplement the reduction in the amount of Peter's pence, which in other parts of the world have fallen off considerably."

THE SALVATION ARMY IN TROUBLE.

THE performances of the Indian contingent of the Salvation Army yesterday had a more disastrous turn than that of the opening march-out of Wednesday last, when Lieutenant Norman was arrested for blowing a cornet in a public street. Yesterday afternoon, however, the procession was stopped near the Obelisk-road, and having refused to disperse, the members of it were arrested and detained all night in the Girgaum Police lock-up.

MORNING PROCEEDINGS.

"Knee Drill and Free and Easy,"—which curious phrase, when translated, means prayers interlarded with addresses and hymns—was the programme executed by the members of the Salvation Army yesterday morning at the Esplanade Theatre, which was turned pro tem. into a house of worship. The theatre was crowded in every part, mostly by the various sects and classes of natives. The front benches were occupied by Europeans and a few native Christians. The soldiers appeared with their implements of war—a big drum, a trumpet, and tambourines. Here "Lieut." Normat blew the trumpet, and "Captain" Bullard beat the drum, in accompaniment to the hymns, without dread of interference from the police. Addresses were given by "Major" Tucker in English and Hindustani, and by the subordinate officers in English. "Major" Tucker expressed his satisfaction that the people here behaved peacefully towards the Salvationists, instead of signifying their displeasure, as they did in some cases in England, by uttering profane words, or pelting them with stones and other missiles. Two European gentlemen bore personal testimony to the everlasting happiness which was secured to true and devout servants of Christ. Shortly before the close of the proceedings subscriptions, made up of small sums contributed, with a very few exceptions, by the Christians present, were collected. "Major" Tucker has published a collection of Hindustani hymns in the form of a little book, entitled "Bukti (Bani) ka Jalmala," copies of which were sold to the people for an anna each. On the cover is represented a very lightly clad native—clothed, in fact, in nothing but a langooty—standing beneath a palm-tree and holding in one hand the Salvationist standard, while his other hand rests upon the head of a tiger, representing Sin conquered and subdued.

The service lasted for about an hour and a half ; and the proceedings throughout were orderly and quiet.

AFTERNOON PROCEEDINGS.

ABOUT 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon large crowds of natives began to assemble in the Esplanade Theatre and in an open space on the Esplanade to the south of it. At the latter place half-a-dozen Moulvies, clad in white garments, and standing on a bench, so as to be distinguished from the throng of listeners that surrounded them, were preaching the doctrines of Islamism. The assembly, composed chiefly of Mussulmans, was quite orderly, and formed a ring which enclosed a large number of Moslems squatted on the bare ground. The other assembly in the Esplanade Theatre was of a more varied description, consisting of European and Eurasian ladies and gentlemen, Parsees, Hindoos, Mussulmans, and representatives of other sections of the native community. The theatre was filled in every part, and numbers were refused admittance to the doors demanding admittance, which had to be refused for want of room. Those who were thus left out contented themselves with forming, as it were, a besieging army round the theatre and its environments. About 5-30 p. m. Captain Bullard, a member of the Indian contingent of the Salvation Army, appeared with a number of Christian ladies and gentlemen upon the stage of the theatre, and was received with a volley of cheers which echoed throughout the building. He said he was sorry he was there alone to commence the proceedings of the evening, but he hoped the Army would be joined by him in a little. Hymns and prayers then followed in quick succession with frequent interruptions, the cheers and noises of the audience inside being echoed lustily by the crowds outside the premises. About this time Captain and Mrs. Gladwyn arrived at the theatre, were the bearers of most unwelcome tidings to Captain Bullard and his friends.

Captain Bullard, addressing the audience, said they could not be surprised to hear from him why he was alone and why his colleagues were not there. It was known that one of their number was arrested the other day for blowing a cornet in the street. Not only had he been arrested, but the officer of the police now told them, "You shall neither march nor sing in the streets." That day being Sunday, they had no wish or intention to play music in the streets ; and in the morning Major Tucker sent a letter to the Superintendent of Police, asking if he would allow the Army that afternoon to march from their head-quarters to the theatre, singing on their way to it. Instead of sending a reply, the Superintendent came to their head-quarters and told them that they would not be allowed to march and sing. Major Tucker expostulated, contending that processions of natives were common in the streets of Bombay, and asked for a similar indulgence. The police officer was unrelenting, and Major Tucker said they would march out that afternoon, to the consequences what they might. In the afternoon he (Captain Bullard) came alone to the theatre, and on the way he passed by two processions of natives, each of which was protected by policemen. He was informed that after the Army left the head-quarters, and were on their way, the members were arrested by the police ; and so at that moment Major Tucker, Lieutenant (Miss) Thomson, and Lieutenant Norman were then in the lock-up for marching and singing in the street. That was the reason, Captain Bullard said, why he was alone there to address them.

The proceedings of the evening were wound up by Captain Bullard about 6-30 p.m. with an address to English on the joys of salvation and eternity, which, for its earnestness, was very generally commended by those who understood him.

Sept. 22. A LOOKER-ON.

THE Bombay Guardian states that its editor "had expected to take part in the demonstration of the Indian Expedition of the Salvation Army last Wednesday, but was precluded by an accident that disabled him for walking, from the effects of which he is not yet quite recovered." " There was an extraordinary eagerness on the part of all, to see them. There was not the least opposition or ill-feeling displayed by the natives, and nothing could exceed the attention with which the members of the Expedition were listened to on the Esplanade. The only opposition was from the police. At that very time bands of Hindoos were going through the streets of Bombay with the image of Ganpati, with all kinds of noisy instruments. The police had in the first instance given the Salvationists licence to have music in the procession, but had afterwards revoked it, in consequence, it is supposed, of some communication from the Government to the Commissioner of Police. The arrest, we believe, is strongly condemned by the respectable natives, and we cannot believe that many Europeans will justify it. It is very certain that the Salvation Army in India will have no music as they march through the streets of our cities except where it is forbidden to Hindoos and Mahomedans.

To the natives of Bombay it seems very mysterious that the authorities should exhibit such dread of the four members of the Salvation Army that have landed here. This dread has culminated in an order forbidding all processions to the Salvationists. All other classes of the community are allowed to have processions. Religious processions, marriage processions, processions of all kinds, are allowed, and are constantly passed in the streets of Bombay. But these new missionaries are not allowed to move through the streets in procession, unless one of them should die, when there would be a funeral procession. Religious processions conducted by Christian Missionaries go through the streets of Calcutta singing hymns and halting now and then at suitable places to speak to those who gather round. The natives have little fear of any movements that are open and above board ; what they fear is underhand procedure.

REFERRING to the remarks which we quoted the other day from a letter by "a domiciled Englishman" to the Pioneer against the Salvation Army, the Bombay Guardian says :—This means that there is no such thing as religious liberty among the natives, and that it is not desirable there ever should be any. In the matter of religion there is to be no enquiry, no conviction, no choice of truth and falsehood, but the most absolute and most degrading mental and moral servitude. What is specially surprising is that the Englishman would reject with scorn the proposition that he should abandon his right to enquire before believing, the right of judgment, the freedom of conscience. Yet he would have the Hindu tor ever bound by the ancestral fetters which forbid all enquiry concerning the true and the false, and tries to persuade them that the missionary is their deadliest enemy, because he asks them to exercise the right of judgment which God has given them and which priestcraft has taken from them.

THE Pioneer :—The approaching visit of a detachment of the Salvation Army makes the following extract from an article in Fraser's Magazine written in 1880, interesting and instructive. After describing the various revival meetings which were held in the north of Scotland in 1860, in which girls fainted, young men fell down in fits, males and females rushed into each other's arms and fondled each other, even in the midst of the meetings, the writer goes on to say :—"It may become a question whether such shameful scenes, such wretched appeals to the hysterical excitement which drives men to the gallows and women to the streets, ought to be tolerated. Does not the fact that such scenes are occurring all over the country suggest certain not altogether pleasant reflections ? What potent elements of fanaticism still leaven the character of the people ! How the inflammable material, the lighted match, will blaze ! How easily the pentup torrent, if it once break through the flimsy barrier, will tear along ! Fanaticism is the parent of intolerance, of bigotry, of persecution. If that fanatical element in our nature which we fancied we had rooted out again asserts itself, as appears from symptoms not altogether improbable, the history of our times may be read by the next generation after a fashion that one little expects. The martyr fires again how down his head in the flames. A civil war between Roundhead and Cavalier, between the bigot and the unbeliever, renewed with even more than the antique bitterness, may again invoke the healing, but iron, hand of a Cromwell." The riots at Multan and Salem show that there is plenty of latent fanaticism in this country, and if the Salvationists are not kept within bounds, or, better still, packed off to England, or one of the colonies, there may be other and worse riots at no very distant date.

GENERAL WILLIAM BOOTH, whose long letter of explanation we could only refer to last week, has kept his word. The Indian Detachment of his Army of Salvation arrived here on Tuesday and took the field on Wednesday afternoon. Operations were confined to two places. But the achievements of that day and the days following must have damped the spirits of the holy warriors. Whilst thousands of the people enlivened the streets with dance and song in honour of 'Ganpati baba morya' on the first day, we could not find any crowd interested in the other equally fantastic and vulgar exhibition. We had looked forward to some really striking effort on the part of the salvationists. Their present mode of warfare is so far from being traditional, that the veriest street gamin will think the whole a farce, even as such, to be beneath contempt. "Major" Tucker had better change his tactics.—Indian Spectator.

THE outcome of the first march of the Salvationists through this city is a prosecution of one of its members for disobeying the orders of our Commissioner of the Police, the result being the imposition of a fine on the accused. This prosecution is not likely to inspire feelings of respect or admiration for the Salvationists ; but it will give them what they seem so ardently to seek—notoriety.—Native Opinion.

THE contingent of the Salvation Army has arrived and made their first public demonstration in Bombay. The same has been neither edifying nor instructive, though it would be not quite correct to say that it has not proved somewhat entertaining or amusing to the streetfaring people. The police have no easy work before them to keep the members of this contingent of the Salvation Army coming in unpleasant conflict with the Hindus and Mahomedans ; but we have faith in Sir F. Souter and his lieutenants being equal to all the requirements for the preservation of the peace in the city.—Bombay Chronicle.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL.—Pre-eminently the Cod Liver Oil for use in India and in warm climates. Joseph J. Pope, Esq., late Staff-Surgeon Army, writes : "I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of Dr. de Jongh's Light-Brown Cod Liver Oil remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was, from its uniformity of character particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The Oil of Dr. de Jongh places in every one's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognized." Sold only in capsuled imperial half-pints, pints, and quarts, by all chemists, druggists, and storekeepers. Sole Consignees, Ansar, Harford and Co., 77, Strand, London.

THE SOUTH-WEST MONSOON.

WE have been having some experience of the "elephantas." On Saturday evening a heavy cloud from the east spread over the town between 5 and 6 o'clock, and there was some thunder, lightning, and heavy rain for an hour or so afterwards. Last evening, again, there was a little rain about half-past seven o'clock.

TELEGRAPHIC WEATHER REPORT.

SIMLA, Sept. 21.—The decrease of pressure reported from the west coast and South Dekkan yesterday forenoon has since ceased, and has been succeeded by a slight recovery there ; while in all other parts of India and Burmah the barometer continues to rise. The strong wind at Goa has subsided, and moderate breezes are general. It is still blowing from north-west and north over Rajputana, Bombay, and the Central Provinces. The sky is almost cloudless at the plain stations of the Punjab and North-West Provinces, but is cloudy in Bengal and Madras, and rain has fallen there. Rain to-day :—Colombo, 3¾ inches ; Belgaum and Bellary, 1 inch ; Darjeeling, Cuttack, Gopalpore, ½ inch. Previously, Gya had 1 inch ; and Nowgong, Poona, and Jaunpore between ¼ and ¾ inch.

THE total rainfall gauged at Egutpoora up to Friday, the 22nd inst., was a little under 156 inches. This was by the official gauge kept by the Mamledar. The rainfall gauged by the Railway Company at this place is much more, the Resident Engineer having gauged 170 inches and the Protestant Railway School about 165 inches. These fluctuations are no doubt due to the influence of trees and high grounds near the different gauges, but the average may fairly be put down as about 155 to 160 inches. The rains here are almost over now, though a few stray showers and the final closing storms are still expected as a sort of wind-up.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I would thank you to permit me to make, through your columns, a few remarks with reference to the case of the Salvationists, mentioned in your to-day's issue :—

Act 48 of 1860, section 19, clause 13, reads (I am given to understand)—"No instrument shall be sounded in the public streets without a licence from the Commissioner of Police." Granted that there is such a rule in force, and that Mr. Norman infringed the law by placing his cornet to his lips, do you think it was fair on Mr. Superintendent Brewin's part to hurry him off unceremoniously to custody for blowing scarcely a blast ? Did not the act look as if it were premeditated, and that Mr. Brewin was waiting for an excuse to arrest one of the party ? I am aware that licenses are issued to religious and other processions to sound music in the public streets, but was always under the impression that they were granted in order that it might be continued at night ; it remained for this case to enlighten me, and I am certain that more than half the population of Bombay were of my opinion.

Since there is such a rule, I would ask why it has never been enforced before ? For I am certain that many have, unwittingly, committed an aggression against the law. Could you, or any of your numerous readers, inform me if the following persons are licensed to play music ad libitum ?

1. Private persons who, for their own amusement and to the detriment and annoyance of adjacent peaceful slumberers, nightly cause hideous noises to be made by means of clanking chains and bells, shrill sounds from horns, drum-sticks, and native clarionets, which tamasha, though commenced in the house, is eventually carried, with shouts and shrieks, into the public streets, and there continued till midnight.

2. Members of brass bands who, for bucksheesh, go from door to door on days of public native festivals (for instance, the popetti of the Parsees), playing two or three tunes before each door in the streets, till remunerated.

3. Mendicants who, to solicit alms, play on instruments in the public streets, making hideous noises, accompanied by yells to attract attention.

If licenses to sound instruments are granted to native communities by Anglo-Indian impressions, why is one withheld from the Salvationists, who are peaceful men and whose only object is to do good ? The fact of the matter is that the police fear a rebellion, and therefore submit to what they daily swallow a camel. If they performed their duty, we would have less noises at night, and would not be troubled with the fear of having our houses burned over our heads by the explosions of crackers and roman candles in the Goanese corps adjacent to our residences, three and four times a month. In some streets in Mazagon, a policeman's tread is rarely, if ever, heard at night.

A verdict to that effect was recorded.

I., his superior officer, in the execution of his office, by threatening to kill him, using words in substance and to the effect following, that is to say, "Don't come near me, or I will kill you with this stick ; if any one will come near me I will kill him." The court found the prisoner guilty and sentenced him to be imprisoned with hard labour for six months. Major-General Sir John Ross has directed that the prisoner be discharged with ignominy from the service and handed over to the civil power.

ACCOUNTS OF THE 3RD SIND HORSE.—A correspondent writes to inform us that a certain para. of ours, which appeared a couple of or three issues back among the items of military intelligence, is calculated, however unintentionally of course on our part, to mislead the reading public on the subject of the accounts of the 3rd Sind Horse. The true state of the case, which it would be well once for all to place before our readers, may be summed up as below :—No court of inquiry was appointed to sit on the accounts of the 3rd Sind Horse—as was repeated by us on the authority of the Pioneer—but, for reasons adduced by the Commanding Officer (immediately on his arrival in Poona) to the military authorities, and approved of by them, a committee, as asked for, was appointed to adjust the account, instead of their having to be adjusted by the office of the Controller of Military Accounts. Such being the case, on the authority of our correspondent, who has given us every reason to place implicit reliance on the statement he has made us, we deem it but just and fair to remove any false impression that may have been created on the subject.—*Deccan indeed, of castes, which refuse the services of Brahmins, and which have their own priests; but we have always understood that the Munipoories, who are certainly very diligent pilgrims, were in a marked degree under the influence of Brahmins. We trust, therefore, that the report of Mr. Muspratt will be published, as it will probably throw some new light upon Hindoo influence and customs in the far East of India.—Indian Daily News.

MADRAS.

A POSTMISTRESS.—We are glad to record that Miss May Maiden's services have been recognised by the authorities. They have now seen fit to transfer her to Cochin in independent charge.—Bangalore Post.

THE SALEM RIOTS.—A correspondent, writing from Salem, says:—The police are being tried at Salem for not firing on the assailants of the mosque during the riots between Hindoos and Mahomedans. Mr. Cadwallader Waddy, Barrister-at-law, is retained on behalf of the police, who are charged under section 46 of the Police Act.—Athenæum.

A STEAM TRAMWAY FOR MADRAS.—We learn that the Hon'ble J. G. Coleman, in conjunction with a couple of other gentlemen, has laid before Government proposals for introducing a steam tramway into the presidency town, and has requested that concessions in furtherance of the scheme may be granted. The Government, it would appear, are in favour of the proposals generally, but are at present discussing the concessions sought.—Madras Times.

THIEVES DETECTED.—About a month ago, a goldsmith's house, situated in Mylapore, Maday-street, was broken into and gold and silver jewellery entrusted to him by residents for repairs, valued at Rs. 2,500, was stolen. The occurrence was at once reported to Mr. Wayne, the Police Inspector of the division, who on Monday last traced [illegible] the stolen property, and arrested [illegible] culprits are now in the [illegible]

CINERATORS—The cinerators referred to in our issue a few days ago, as having been ordered to be introduced at every station in the Madras Presidency, at which mounted troops are located, are the invention of Mr. James Mills, Army Veterinary Department, lately appointed lecturer in the Veterinary Department, Government Farm, Saidapett, and Cattle Inspector for Southern India. Mr. Mills is, we understand, highly thought of by the members of his profession, and has contributed several interesting papers to the Veterinary Journal on subjects bearing upon epeg astic diseases, more particularly "Loodianah or Anthrax" in India, and stable management generally in this country.—Madras Times.

VIZIANAGRAM RACE RULES.—We have been asked to call the attention of the Vizianagram authorities to a rule in their prospectus, at which several owners take exception, and which may keep many stables away that might otherwise attend. We allude to the one which states that no jockey or trainer will be allowed to take tickets or bid. It is a well-known fact throughout the racing world, that the Maharajahs of Paikpara, Joudpore and Durbungah as well as Nawab Seyd Ali Khan, and many other sportsmen, both European and native, are unable to be personally present at every meeting when their horses run, and also that secretaries have never had occasion to complain of the conduct of those trainers to whose discretion owners are willing to trust. We fear if the accounts of many past meetings were rated up, that in promptness of payment, trainers and jockeys would too frequently prove to have shown a good example to their superiors. We trust that the Vizianagram Stewards will amend the rule complained of.—Indigo Planters' Gazette.

THE SALEM RIOTS.—The Madras Times' correspondent telegraphs from Salem, Sept. 21:—Soondrum Chetty, the alleged head centre of the conspiracy which led to the destruction of the mosque, for whose apprehension a reward of a thousand rupees was offered, though searched for diligently during the past two weeks by leading detective officers all over the Presidency, presented himself to-day a little after noon at the Gate Collector's house requesting permission to see the District Magistrate. The request was granted, and, on admission, he introduced himself as Soondrum Chetty, reminding the Magistrate that he had already notified to him by registered letter his intention to surrender on the day of the trial. To-day being the day appointed for the hearing, he appeared in Court with that promise. By this action the [illegible] has been saved the thousand rupees offered for his arrest.

AN EXECUTION AT OOTACAMUND.—The Madras Mail's Correspondent at Ootacamund wrote on Sept. 19th:—This morning witnessed the first execution of a Toda on the Nilgiris. The native population of Ootacamund was astir at a very early hour to be present at the carrying out of the extreme penalty of the law on a Toda and two Badagas who were sentenced to death by Mr. Wyrram, the Sessions Judge. It will be recollected that nine persons (two Todas and seven Badagas) were arrested in connection with what is now known as the "Hebanaad murders"—murders not dictated by ordinary motives, but influenced by superstitions and religious zeal. One of the prisoners, the monygar of the village, died soon after the preliminary trial, so that only eight were indicted before the Coimbatore Sessions Court and all were sentenced to death. The prisoners were ably defended by Mr. Willie Grant, Barrister-at-law, who also took the case in appeal before the High Court, Madras. The conviction was confirmed, but the sentence of five of the Badaga prisoners was commuted to transportation for life. Of the four sentenced to death, one Toda died in the Coimbatore Central Jail, and the Madras Government, having refused to exercise their prerogative of mercy it became a question as to where the execution should take place, whether at Coimbatore, or on the Nilgiris. It was at one time rumoured that Hebanaad, the scene of the murder was decided on. Early this month it was said the execution would take place in Ooty, on a Tuesday—the usual shandy or market day, and in the market square, but this, however, not meeting with approval, the execution took place on the west side of the jail hill. The three condemned men arrived at Ooty on Saturday. They were carefully provided for, each man being allowed a cart. The usual complement of policemen accompanied them. It is said that the men were not informed of the reason of their transfer from Coimbatore to Ooty, but were led to believe they were being brought up for a further hearing of their case. Whether this ruse was practised in view to prevent a rescue, deponent sayeth not. They, however, arrived here safely, and were lodged in the District Jail.
